When asked if there was any truth in Katrina calling Salman to help him, Kaif answered, "These reports of me calling him for help, etc., aren't true. I don't call him every second day or every time there is a problem."

The actress went on to add, “But if I was ever in trouble or if I ever needed help from someone, I believe he (Salman) is the kind of person, who would help a friend or anyone who has been close to him. And I believe that he would help me.”
